DR. HARRY MILLER
Treated nearly three generations

Is There A Doctor In Your Town?

In McComb, Doc Miller's Era Over

Caring Physician Hard To Replace

By KIM KINTER
Blade Staff Writer

McCOMB, O. — Ask anyone in McComb and he'll tell you where to find Doc Miller's place.

"It's right across the railroad tracks," he'll say, pointing down the street. "You can't miss it."

During many of the last 47 years, that comfortable house on North Todd Street was a constant scene of activity.

From treating patients in his small office all hours of the day to rising in the middle of the night to make house calls, Dr. Harry Miller — the sole village doctor — was going nonstop.

But the activity has ceased in the last two months. The office doors are closed and the medical supplies are being packed up.

Doc Miller has retired, turning his attention from bandages and broken bones to travel and relaxation.

His 75 years of age and the state requirement of continuing medical education for all licensed physicians convinced the doctor to close his practice, beginning with the new year.

"I really stayed in practice about 10 years longer than I should have," the doctor says. "I told everyone here I was too old to keep up with the courses. I have to stop practicing. I'd be practicing illegally if I continued."

The doctor admits, however, it hasn't been easy to give up practice in this Hancock County village with about 2,000 residents.

"One thing about country practice is the fine patient-doctor relationship," Doc Miller says with a sigh. "It is a special feeling to know how much you are liked by your patients."

Like many country doctors, not only was Doc Miller genuinely concerned about the villagers' health, but he took a sincere interest in their happiness and well-being as neighbors and friends.

The doctor, who has treated nearly three generations of villagers, vividly remembers individual case histories and delights in animatedly relating his numerous success stories.

"I must have delivered between 1,500 and 2,000 babies in my career," Doc Miller says, beaming.

This is the first of three articles on the availability of doctor care in rural areas of northwest Ohio and southeast Michigan.

"But that wasn't always easy either," he explains more seriously. "Sometimes the baby would be born blue and not breathing. But I wouldn't give up. I'd work on it a couple of hours."

The doctor's usually bright eyes turn dark as he reflects on some cases with which he has not been as successful.

"A man across the street — a friend of mine — had cancer," he explains. "Every day, week after week, I'd go over there and change the dressings.

"On those days I'd get tired fast. I knew he'd die. But I kept on going because so many others were depending on me."

It was just by chance that Dr. Miller came to McComb. His father, a doctor for many years in Belmore, O., had told him that the small village could use another physician.

In McComb, Doc Miller's Days Are Over

"I came in the early 30s when it was really rough for a doctor," he said. "There just wasn't any money to be had at the time.

"We could make out better in the country because at least you would eat. People out here would pay with fruit, vegetables, and eggs. Over the years I bet I've received about 1,000 dozen eggs," he laughs.

His personality almost immediately warmed up the villagers, and he soon had a large practice. After only five years of practicing medicine in McComb, Doc Miller constructed a hospital.

The hospital had room for 17 adults and 12 babies. It was crude compared with today's health facilities, but for a rural community at least 11 miles from the nearest hospital, in Findlay, it was more than adequate.

Dr. Miller's house was next to the hospital.

"I worked 24 hours a day at that time," Doc Miller recalls. "The only way I could get some time off was to just leave town. And then people would get insulted if you weren't there when they needed you.

"Sometimes it got just plain ridiculous. I'd sleep three or four hours and then go over to the hospital in my pajamas."

The doctor stopped performing most surgeries when he closed the hospital in 1950, but he continued to work long hours — making house calls and seeing patients till the very last day.

"But I warned them," he says with a slow shake of his head. "I couldn't keep it up forever. I tried to get people (other doctors) here for the last 10 years."

Doc Mller still gets calls occasionally from fomer patients seeking medical advice, t he gently suggests that the callers fid a new physician.

Many the older residents who are unable t make the trek to see physicians in Findlay and those who were accustond to Doc Miller's house-call policy a now without a doctor. Other villagers ave found doctors in Findlay.

Resid s here have tried various ways of tracting a new doctor but so far have d no luck.

Village officials have considered offering a guaranteed income to attract a doctor and have listed the vacancy with several medical groups.

John DeFrieze, a McComb resident active in the search for a doctor, said about 10 persons have been interviewed for the position but none has seemed interested.

One prospective doctor wanted to be guaranteed an income of about $60,000 a year, but the residents here don't believe they can handle that amount, he said.

"Maybe we are looking too hard for another Doc Miller," he said. "And we'll probably never have another one like him. Those days are over."

Ask anyone in McComb where Doc Miller's place is now and they'll say somewhat wistfully: "It's right across the railroad tracks. You can't miss it. But he's out of business, you know."

Monday: A program established by the Medical College of Ohio offers a remedy — with a price tag — for communities searching for a doctor.

FRANK A. MILLER

(Copied from his obituary)

As the long train of ages glide away, the sons of man, the youth in life's green spring, and he who goes in the full strength of years, matron and maid and the newst babe, and the grey headed man shall one by one be gathered to thy side, by those who in their turn shall follow them, so it is in the death of Frank A. Miller, who was born at Keiferville, Ohio, February 4th, 1890, and departed this life at peace with God, August 26, 1921, attaining unto the age 31 years, 6 months and 22 days. He grew to manhood in his parental home where he received Christian training.

He was converted at the age of 18 and united with the Evangelical Church under the pastorate of Rev. Pritchtt.

He cherished this experience which gave him hope, peace and trust during the days and weeks of suffering and final victory in the hour of death.

He was always very industrious as a student and especially in mechanical work. He graduated from the Belmore High School with the class of 1910 and Grawfis College in 1912. In 1913, he entered Starling Dental College at Columbus, Ohio, from which place he graduated with high honors June 6, 1916. In the following August he began practicing his profession at Deshler, Ohio, which he continued as long as his health permitted. He was a member of Psi Omega Fraternity and also a member of the I.O.O.F. of Deshler and belonged to the Belmore Band. On November 5, 1916, he was united in marriage to Hazel Glenn Fenstermaker.

For the last year and a half he has been a quiet sufferer.

He leaves to mourn his departure his devoted wife Hazel who cared for him constantly day and night during his weeks of suffering. His faithful father and mother whose love and care he appreciated so much that he never failed to be at home at least once or twice a week, whenever possible. His brother, W. C. Miller and wife, who gave their unceasing efforts trying to alleviate his pain, three neices and two nephews and host of relatives and friends.

One sister, Ardella Wisterman having preceded him to the spirit work, February 5, 1911.

Funeral services were held in the Evangelical Church at Belmore, Sunday at 2 P.M. conducted by Rev. Carl W. Jameson. Interment was made in the West Belmore Cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

The family wish to extend their thanks to all kind friends for their assistance during the sickness and death of Doctor Miller, for the beautiful floral offerings and to Rev. Jameson for his words of comfort.

Dear Lorna,

Christmas 1999

If I can believe the calendar, Christmas is just around the corner. Looking back over the years, most of them were happy, joyful occasions. The swiftly passing years have brought many changes but God's heavenly proclamation on the first Christmas remains the same - "on earth peace, good will toward men". [quote from Edward and Bernice Kammeyer Christmas Letter of 1980 - so well said and still true in 1999]

This past year has been a special one for us. In May, Ruth visited Ohio attending her 50th graduation anniversary at Ohio Wesleyan. She met three former room mates and together attended many special events. Time allowed visiting with family and friends in NW Ohio.

Upon her return, plans for our 50th wedding anniversary were shaping (June 25, 1949). Our simple plans were augmented by many surprises from our church and family. Actually, the celebration began 50 days before the "big day!" Cards began to arrive. Many things did not become clear until our time together at Morro Bay when we were presented with The Memory Book. We have a marvelous family and appreciate all they do for us.

Mike and Barbara: Jessica (17) Josh (14) Sarah (11)
(they live in Vienna, VA, near Washington, DC)
Jeff and Keri: Lindsey (20), attending University of Montana in Missoula,
Kristen (17) Matthew (5)
(they live in Redding, CA, 554 miles north of Santa Barbara)

As we returned to Santa Barbara from visiting with Jeff and family over Thanksgiving, we were reminded of many things for which we are thankful - our family and friends, our church and the comfort which we are afforded in our home and city. We recalled our first Christmas in 1949. Ray was a student in Huntington, WV. We didn't have a car but he did have a Ford stakebed pickup that he had sort of inherited. I just had to get back home (northwestern Ohio) for Christmas. We packed our gear, bought a case of oil (the truck was an oil burner) and away we went with a song and a prayer. After a wonderful visit, we started south, making it as far as Troy, OH, when the rear axle broke, right in front of a Ford garage; only one of many blessings.

We wish you the very best of the New Year - as we enter the new millennium.

We hope this has been a good year for you folks. Wish I could say I'd gotten much done on family recording. Did add a few dates & statistics but no real charting. Hope to hear from you.

Love,

Ruth + Ray

Christmas - 2004

Dear Lorna & Ken,

We wish you a Blessed Christmas and a Happy New Year! Our world is under great stress. May all leaders make wise choices for the good of all mankind.

Son, Michael and family remain in the DC area. He continues work at the Naval Shipyards. The family is healthy and busy.

Son, Jeffrey and family are in Redding, CA. Jeff is heavily involved with the clinic and his medical practice. Keri has extra responsibilities with her parents in a nearby nursing home. The family is healthy and busy.

As with all, we aren't getting any younger. We try to make wise health decisions and accept what we cannot change.

Our year has not been without a lighter side. Lack of rain drove many "critters" into the backyard searching for water. We learned that squirrels, opossums, gophers and rats are smart. It was a challenge trying to keep them from wrecking Ruth's flowers.

Each year I'm not going to let "the rush" get to me! Ha!

Our years are getting a little heavy but we keep on "ticking!" Esther's husband (Bob Sipe) died in Feb. Called her on Dec 7, her birthday. So glad she has family nearby.

Sam Koch and LaVada are OK but, Sam's Parkinson is taking a lot to handle. (pain, memory loss etc). Heard that Gertrude & someone else got to the Alumni banquet. Our old school has been razed - may make a community park of the land. Change, change, change!

Ever onward - Love,

Ruth & Ray

Paulding Co. Church Survives Without Members Or Minister

Although St. Paul's Church hasn't had a membership for over half of its 99 years, residents of Paulding Township are already making plans to celebrate its centennial next year. Here, Don and Burd discuss recent building improvements.

by Dean Buckenmeyer

For the past 54 years, St. Paul's Church hasn't had a member.

Yet the 99-year-old church is still going strong at its country location just southwest of Paulding.

In fact, it reportedly has the distinction of being the only one in the United States to be owned and maintained by a township government.

And it's not used as a museum or storage depot. It's a full-fledged church.

Although it's contrary to laws that maintain the separation of church and state, it would be political suicide for any elected official to attempt to change that status.

"There's a lot of community support for this church," said Don Stoller, one of three Paulding Township trustees who oversee the upkeep of the church and the adjoining cemetery.

"About a month ago, members of the Chamber of Commerce came out to scrape the building and get it ready for a new coat of paint. Even the judge spent some time out here.

"Last winter, Charlie Buehler of Briceton donated and installed an LP gas furnace at the rear of the church. Until then we had tried to heat it the best we could with a coal and wood burning stove.

"And as long as I can remember, Burd Davis has made daily patrols of the church and cemetery, just to make sure everything is all right."

At 91, Burd is perhaps the leading authority on the history of St. Paul's.

Although he's not quite as old as it is, he does have an 1881 clipping from the Latty News which relates how Noah Long, a member of the original Reformed Church congregation, traveled to Defiance by horse and buggy to buy lumber for the 30- by 54-foot house of worship.

"I don't know for sure, but I imagine it was actually built by Adam Klingler or Adam Long," he said last week. "They were both carpenters and members of the congregation."

Present-day decor still reflects the ideals of the original Reformed congregation. The simplistic beauty of dark-stained pews, pulpit and offering table mirror the appeal of the plain wooden structure with its clear-glass windows.

For the first 15 to 20 years of its existence, worshippers sang their praises to God without instrumental accompaniment.

"They didn't have an organ back then," Burd said. "I've heard some fellows say they got their musical pitch by using a tuning fork.

"But around the turn of the century their Sunday School purchased a Burdette pump organ. Stella Long Savage played it during those early years."

Burd first learned of St. Paul's existence in 1903, when his family moved to their farm about three miles west of the church grounds. But at that time they worshipped with another nearby congregation.

Despite his 91 years, Burd still makes daily pre-dawn patrols of St. Paul's grounds. The former grave digger admits that he personally knew most of those buried there, including 9-year-old Charles and 12-year-old Bertha Mielke, who were buried at this spot after being struck and killed by a lightning bolt in 1926.

But that didn't mean he owed his allegiance to one church only. By 1912, he'd started digging graves in St. Paul's Cemetery.

"I dug them all by hand," he said. "If I started early in the morning and worked like heck, I could usually get one done by 2 in the afternoon. Of course, that's assuming the ground wasn't frozen.

"I ended up working in that cemetery for 40 years before I quit. Never was paid for my work, either. It was all free gratis."

By 1920, many of the older members of the Reformed congregation had died and those left to carry on had disbanded after turning the building over to the non-denominational Union Sunday School.

For years, Burd had attended Sunday School at the old Haines School. He's proud to say that's where he met his wife Grace, whom he married in 1913.

But the Haines Sunday School also closed its doors around 1920 and the couple began attending classes at St. Paul's.

Anxious to help out, Burd was among the first to offer his services when his Sunday School class offered to buy a bell for the church.

"Robert Weir and Ross Reynolds made a trip to Toledo to purchase our 1,400-pound bell," he recalled.

"The rest of us built onto the rear entrance so it reached the height of the rest of the church.

"The bell was then hoisted above the entrance and a tower was built around it. Our Sunday School also purchased the piano that's at the church now."

Political Hold

Although the Union Sunday School met weekly, it was only on special occasions that visiting ministers from Paulding came by to conduct worship services, Burd reminisced.

He believes it was quite unfortunate that several preachers and church members were unable to settle their differences.

After one fiery discussion in 1924, the congregation split. Those who left built a new church nearby and the rest continued on at St. Paul's.

But after struggling for two more years, the remainder of the congregation disbanded and joined other churches.

"The building sat unused for a number of years after that," Burd said. "But then, in the early '40s, the Reformed Church turned it and the grounds over to the township trustees on the condition that they be kept in a good state of repair.

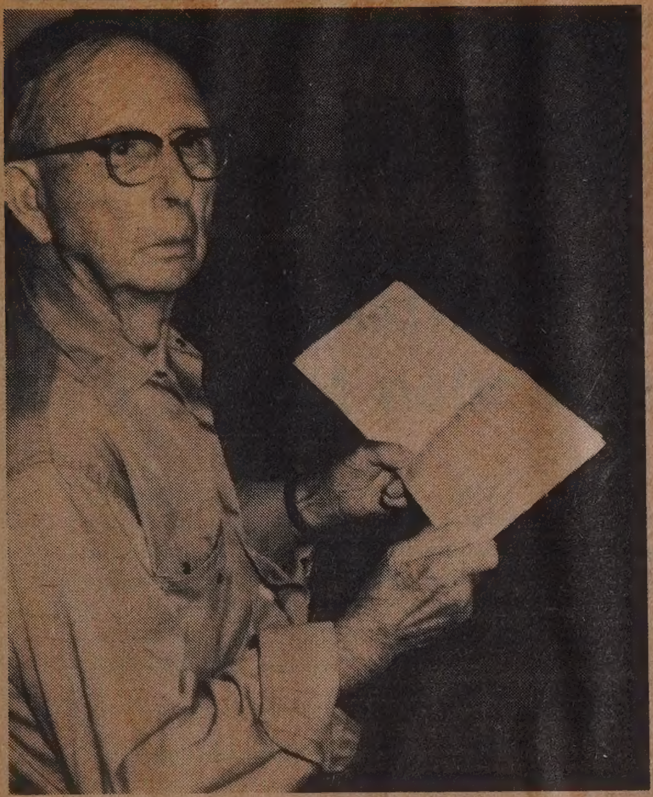
"Since then, it's been used every Declaration Day for a neighborhood homecoming. Lots of the kids who grew up here and moved away still enjoy coming back for a day of fellowship."

Of course, there was no water supply at St. Paul's Church when the neighborhood gatherings were initiated about 1942. To rectify that situation, they collected private donations to have a well drilled.

"Unfortunately, the chairman of the township board of trustees balked at the idea and ordered the well driller off the property," Burd said.

Burd spent 40 working years digging graves in St. Paul's Cemetery. Here, he stands guard over the site of his first, which he dug in 1912.

Aug. 19, 1980



A bookcase at St. Paul's Church still contains many of the Sunday School tracts and hymnals used by its original Reformed congregation. Burd and other visitors enjoy leafing through the pages of song books like "The Drill Master", which was published in Toledo in 1883.

PAULDING CHURCH

"But when I got wind of that, I went to see the trustee at his home. I told him the well was being paid for entirely through private funds and it wasn't costing taxpayers anything.

"When I got through talking, he hunted up the well driller and got him back on the job!"

Landmark Wedding

Since the township trustees assumed ownership of the grounds, St. Paul's Cemetery has expanded twice and now occupies four acres immediately to the east of the church.

More recently, the trustees hired a crew to put a new roof on the church. They also wanted to install metal siding over the walls to avoid painting them.

But Burd and other old-timers had other ideas.

"We wanted to preserve the church as near to original as possible," he said. "That's why the Chamber of Commerce volunteered to scrape the siding. And since then, the church has received two coats of paint.

Inside, the church still contains its original furnishings. And visitors might feel as if they're in touch with the past as they leaf through books like "The Reformed Church Hymnal", "The New Century Carols" and "The Drill-Master", all from the 1880s and '90s.

Other than the annual reunion and occasional burials, few activities had been held at St. Paul's until recent years.

But now it seems that the church is receiving new life.

Within the past ten years, Burd estimates that half a dozen funerals have been held there.

But he believes the most remarkable landmark in all of St. Paul's history occurred there last July 5, when Paulding native Paul Long married his Pennsylvania bride in a simple religious ceremony performed by his brother-in-law, Glen Stewart of the First Christian Church in Sidney. 1980

"To my knowledge that's the first wedding that's ever been held here," Burd said.

"At least there haven't been any other weddings at St. Paul's since I've lived here.

"In fact, I doubt if any members of the Reformed Church were ever married here. They usually found a Justice of the Peace and got the ceremony over with."

St. Paul's—100 years

Church celebrates birthday

By DORTHA SCHAEFER

Special occasions call for special celebrations and the people who revere St. Paul's Church are planning just such an event—a 100th anniversary. Services were held for the first time in St. Paul's on Nov. 19, 1881.

On May 30 those devoted to the century-old edifice will take part in an old fashioned hymn-sing with organist Mabel Thomas providing accompaniment. On Sunday May 31 Sunday School will be conducted at the church at 11 a.m. with a special program planned for all ages. At 1 p.m. there will be a catered lunch at the township house which was once the Haines School. At 2 p.m. there will be another special program.

Planning the events to take place are the following committee members: Charles Buehler, president, Carl Schaefer, vice president, Martha Long, secretary, and Altha Reighter, treasurer. Also assisting is Ruth Alice Buehler.

By the end of the year 1880 about 15 families had purchased land and built log cabins in the woods near Paulding. A majority of them came from Hardin and Allen Counties in Ohio. They decided to build a union church of German Reformed and Lutherans. Levi Anspach gave land for the building and for a cemetery with both to be called St. Paul's.

Farmers donated timber which was hired cut into lumber. Adam Long was the head carpenter; all helped with the labor.

In five years time there were over 100 in the Sunday School and about 60 members of the church. The Lutherans would have services in the morning one month and the Reformed in the afternoon. The next month the order was reversed. Many families went to both services. Men sat on one side of the church, women on the other.

There was a Union Sunday School.

A tuning fork was used to start the hymns until the happy day when a new pump organ was installed. Hymn books used in the church's early days are still in the pews, furnishings of the early church are still there - the Bible, offering plates, the pews.

The next month the order was reversed. Many families went to both services. Men sat on one side of the church, women on the other.

There was a Union Sunday School.

A tuning fork was used to start the hymns until the happy day when a new pump organ was installed. Hymn books used in the church's early days are still in the pews, furnishings of the early church are still there - the Bible, offering plates, the pews.

A gas furnace was donated by the Buehlers and it replaced the heating stove. St. Paul's is unique, according to those involved in it. It is probably the only one in the United States that is under the control of a township government.

Many years ago the congregation split. Those who left built a new church nearby and the others continued on at St. Paul's. After another stormy two years, the rest of the congregation disbanded and started attending other churches.

In the early 1940's the Reformed Church agreed to turn the grounds over to the township trustees. They were to keep them in good condition, and still do to this day.

Willis Stoller, Orville Riley, and Kenneth Wilhelm are now township trustees in charge. 92-year-old Burd Davis checks out the grounds and building every day as he has for the past 60-plus years.

Burd said, "I started digging graves in the cemetery when a friend died in 1912. I dug them by hand and if I started early in the morning I could usually get it done by two in the afternoon. That is, I could if the ground wasn't frozen!"

Why did he continue digging graves there for 40 years?

"I guess I just felt obligated, people depended on me to do it!" said Mr. Davis.

Davis started going to St. Paul's to church when his family moved to the area when he was still very young. By 1920 the church wasn't doung so well as many members had died and those remaining had disbanded, allowing the building to be used by the non-denominational Union Sunday School.

The Sunday School people decided to buy a bell for St. Paul's and ordered it from a firm in Toledo about 1917-1918. It weighed 1400 pounds and was brought from the city by Robert Weir and Ross Reynolds.

"Some of us built a belfry around the bell after it was put up above the entrance. The class also bought a piano. Ministers from Paulding came out to conduct worship services sometimes," remembered Davis.

According to church record books in the possession of Mrs. Long, the following men were full-time ministers at St. Paul's in its early years: Reverends Gruber, Lockey, Barber, Dreibelbies, Sechiel, Lautzenhiser, Jungg, and Rumbarger who was there until 1901.

There is a history of starts and stops for services in St. Paul's. In its 100th year the church is used for funerals with burials in the cemetery which has grown in size from its humble beginning. It is used each May for the Memorial Day picnic and reunion.

During the nation's Bicentennial celebration, a sing-a-long and mock wedding brought the old church back to life again with every pew filled.

Burd Davis, 92, makes one of his early morning checks on St. Paul's and its grounds, as he has been doing for over 60 years.

Altha Reighter remembers, "One day in spring there was a wild lightning and thunder storm. A bolt hit the east side of St. Paul's and tore a big hole in the wall. It's a wonder it didn't burn down that day!"

"In 1942," said Davis, "we took up a collection from interested people to dig a well, since there was no water on the grounds when there were neighborhood gatherings. The chairman of the board of trustees ordered the driller off the property."

"When I heard about that, I went to see him and told him that a private collection was paying for the well entirely, that it wasn't costing the taxpayers anything. After that little talk, the trustee hunted up the driller and put him back to work."

In recent years a new roof has been put on the church, and the trustees wanted to put on metal siding. The old-timers didn't like that idea, saying they wanted to preserve the building as it had been originally.

The Kiwanis Club volunteered to scrape the old boards to get it ready for paint and it has had two new coats since then. Men are at work this month on the inside getting it ready for the coming celebration with ceiling tile and paint.

"To my knowledge," said Burd, "there has been only one wedding performed in St. Paul's! That happened in 1979 when a Paulding native, Paul Long, married his Pennsylvania sweetheart in a simple religious ceremony there. His brother-in-law Glen Stewart officiated."

The record book shows many baptisms, the first being that of Daniel Clyde Klingler, born Nov. 17, 1887. The oldest living member of the congregation is C. Paul Klingler who was born June 2, 1884.

Names to be found in the pages of the records in the early years are Klinglers, Longs, Mossoneys, Vokes, Sivits, Linns, Bashores, and Pitmans.

The celebration this spring will include that of the Haines School alumni, the school being founded in 1900. Since the two are so close in location, their history has been intertwined for many years.

St. Paul's Church is unique in other ways than its ownership by trustees. Those who attended it in the years gone past continue to keep it very much alive even it is used so seldom.

A new name plate to go over the front entrance will be installed in time for the weekend party. It was made and donated by Addie Strabele of Paulding.

St. Paul's Church gleams like new in the May sunshine, a tribute to the hundreds who have loved the little building and worked to keep it.

Rea Magnet Wire Company, Inc.

Fort Wayne, Indiana 46806

December 12, 1975

Dear Fellow Rea Employee:

I would like to discuss with you some very serious problems relative to the operation of the Fort Wayne Pontiac Street Plant, and to ask your cooperation in their successful resolution.

The Company has experienced significant increases in fabricating costs over the last several months, resulting from recent wage and benefit improvements extended to our employees, and from drastic increases in the cost of utilities, solvents and enamels. These increases have posed a very special problem in this serious recessionary period during much of which Rea Magnet Wire has lost money.

Although these problems confront each Rea employee, they must be of special concern to employees of the Pontiac Street Plant. A recent study confirms that much of our obsolete Fort Wayne equipment is not operating on a competitive basis with other plant locations; and many of our competitors are producing more efficiently than our local operation. Solving this productivity problem is essential.

There are numerous reasons for the situation that exists at the Pontiac Street Plant, many of which involve past errors in judgment on the part of both management and employees. The prior relationship between Company and Union has stifled joint cooperative efforts to improve productivity. The manufacturing management team has been reluctant to propose improvements at the Pontiac Street Plant because of adverse employee reaction. Major investments in new equipment have not been recommended because of concern that local plant employees would not willingly accept the changes in job content needed to assure a satisfactory return from the investment.

The challenge that confronts each of us today is to improve the competitive position of the plant through better utilization of available and existing equipment, and to develop a level of confidence necessary to permit serious consideration of an obviously needed plant modernization.

John Dukes and his wife Mary Haddox Dukes were in Franklin County Ohio in 1808.They came with some of their children ,from Virginia.John was issued a Taverns License in1811.His will was signed 11 Mar. 1814. Ex. Eshmael Davis.It mentions his wife Mary,daughters Lydia Davis;NAncy Dukes and Susanah Sukes.The two younger daughters to have a good bed and furniture when they become of age.

After the feath of John Mary married William Powell in 1816 in Franklin County Ohio.Mary Dukes was issued a Taverns License in 1814 and William Powell was issued one in 1816 formerly that of Mary Dukes,Mary had two sons by William but they seperated before Mary went to Hancock County Ohio.Mary ,with her sons Lewis,Richard,Dillard,John,Nicholas and Asa and Handy Powell came to Hancock County in 1828. She is buried in the Dukes Cemetery Rt.224 Hancock Co.Ohio.

William Dukes passed away in Franklin Co.Ohio.His will is there but I find no descendents

Lydia Dukes was married to Ishmil Davis(Eshmael) ,in Virginia and lived for some time in Cynthana ,Kentucky where some of their children were born.Ishmil died in Hamilton Township Franklin County Ohio .His wtll is there.After the death of Ishmil Lydia married Seldon Blodget who was in Hancock County in 1828.They seperated before Lydia came to Hancock County Ohio.One of the sons of Lydia and Ishmil was Alfred Davis a well known farmer in Hancock County Ohio as well as Isaac Newton Davis of Putnam County Ohio..Lydia passed away in Hancock County Ohio and is buried in the Dukes Cemetery Hancock County Ohio.

John Dukes came with his brothers in 1828 to Blanchard Township Hancock County Ohio..He owned land and lived in Blanchard Township until his later years .He then sold out and moved to Wood County Ohio where he died.

Lewis Dukes came to Blanchard Township Hancock County Ohio in 1827.He built the first tile factory in Hancock County Ohio to drain his land.He later sold the factory but it remained and helped the whole county.

Richard Dukes came to Blanchard Township Hancock County in 1828 where he spent his life.He was the father of a large family who also spent most of their lives in the county.The first meeting house in the county was built on his land.

Stephen Dukes and his wife Rachel Lewis went to Vermillion County Illinois in 1822.They settled in Brooks Point near Westville where they raised a large family.

Dillard Dukes came to the county in 1828 with his brothers ..He too had a large family and some descendents still living in the county.

Nicholas Dukes came with his brothers and mother to the county in 1828.He married twice and had a large family. He passed away in 1850 and is buried in the Dukes Cemetery across from Clymers Cemetery in Hancock County Ohio.He has many descendents living in Hancock County as well as in Putnam,Allen and Lucas Counties,Ohio

His will of 23 Sept. 1850 proven 7 March 1851 land in Putnam County Ohio to his wife Sarah Ann Dukes.Lewis Dukes is to be the gurdian of George and William his sons..David Smith to be the guardian of David,Mary ,Lewis and child still unnamrd.

The following is a record of the famlies of John and Mary as I have found them with a great deal of help from many mny people.

Susannah Dukes a sister of the above married Phillip McKinnis and had a large family.I have not been able to find too much on the descendents.They were supposed to have been a very happy family and it is said that Susannah was always happy,smiling and laughing.

Bob disliked the name of Willie so he went by the name of William. Willie was the name of Rollos older brother .Bob went to Mt. Pleasant and worked in the Roosevelt Oil Fields 1936/37 .HE was drafted into the army 1943/44 and left on a medical discharge in about a year.Bob and Kates only natural son was stillborn.Robert Jude was 2-3 weeks old .He had been baptized on a Sunday and caught cold and died a few days later.After the deaths of Bob and Kate Mark was raised by a brother of Kates. Bob after leaving the military became a policeman at Mt. Pleasant amd held the rank of Sargent. This info recieved from Lorna Luegring

Jimmey Joe Davis and Marvin Mearl Davis were both involved in an accident in a cabin that the brothers all owned .These two and two other boys had taken theirTrail bikes to the cabin to make paths so they could hunt later in the season.There had been a heavy storm and somehow the propane gas piolet light was put out and all four were killed .The Funeral was literally an all day afair. The boys bodies were both at the Oberlin Ford Home in Bryon Ohio.The Funeral services for both were at the family church in Camden Mich. From there both bodies weree taken to the Frontier Cemetrry for one burial and then the other body was taken to near Bryon.Both widows have since remarried and both have a child by their second husbands
